Getting The Basics Right

To achieve this ambition and in support of our mission “To improve the resilience of London’s business community”, we have developed a range of resources that we will be rolling out over the coming months. Built around 10 cyber resilience ‘themes’, each one is designed to educate, inform and demystify the cyber landscape for small businesses.

At The Cyber Resilience Centre for London, we believe it’s essential for every business to “get the basics right”. This means taking simple steps to reduce vulnerability, but also making sure they know what to do in the event of an attack or breach so that they can get themselves back online as quickly as possible.
